Dear Dr. Gair,

I am pleased to hear about the exciting plans for The London Youth Trust and I am delighted to continue my role as a Patron. The new strategy of introducing Awards to support the development of young people in London will offer further valuable opportunities for those whom over the years the Trust has done so much to support.

An Award from The London Youth Trust will let young people know, very powerfully, that somebody believes in them – and believes that they can make successes of their lives. Belief is infectious and in no time at all those same young people will believe in themselves. When you believe in yourself there is no limit to what you can achieve and when you understand that, there is no turning back.

Please be assured of my continuing prayers and kind wishes for all at The London Youth Trust.

Yours sincerely,
